Part-B (Reading)

2. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

But we are bound to endorse the verdict against the lift-man. Most people will have a certain sympathy with him. While it is true that there is no law that compels us to say "Please" there is a social practice much older and more sacred than any law which enjoins us to be civil and the first requirement of civility is that we should acknowledge a service. "Please" and "Thank you" are the small change with which we pave our way as social beings. They are the little courtesies by which we keep the machine of life oiled and running sweetly. They put our intercourse upon the basis of friendly co-operation, as easy give and take instead of on the basis of superiors dictating to inferiors.

- (i) Write the name of the chapter and of its author.
 (ii) What is the first requirement of 'civility' ?
 (iii) How do "little courtesies" help us ?
